alexander s. foxia, sov embcy counselor, at lunch which he sought urgently, asks if state would be interested in settlement of cuban crisis along these lines:

bases would be dismantled under united nations supervision and castro would pledge not to accept offensive weapons of any kind, ever, in return for us. pledge not to invade cuba.

I said I didn't know but ~~xxxx~~ that perhaps ~~him~~ this is something that could be talked about; he said if stevenson pursued this line, foxia would be interested. asked that i check with state and let him know. he gave me his home telephone number so I could call him tonight, if necessary.

foxia claimed that cuban delegate to un during security council debate asked for such no-invasion assurances in return for dismantling but that he got no reply. i told him i'd followed the un debate very carefully but could not recall any such ~~xxxx~~ remarks on cuban's part.

foxia also said russia had been forced "to make some concessions" to communist china in order to convince them to stop the fighting against india. he declined to say what under my questioning. but he recalled they ~~hadn't~~ hadn't helped the chinese with nuclear weapons or conventional weapons in the past, even tanks, and hinted it might be aid in the conventional field.
